Decide Upon Basis of Exchange In Water Trade.

RELIEF IS NOW IN SIGHT.

Agreement Reached at a Conference Held Last Night-Result of Proposition from Mr. Gabbett.

The Parley's creek water commissioners have finally agreed upon a basis of exchange between the city and the farmers, and indications are very favorable for speedy relief from the water famine which has prevailed in this city for the past week. A. F. Doremus, John Gabbott and I. M. Fisher, compose the board of commissioners, and, at the meeting held last evening, it was agreed that the city should furnish the farmers, from the city canal or from any other sourse, 4,340,356 gallons per day in exchange for the Par-ley's creek water. The agreement was reached after considerable wrangling and resulted from a proposition made by Mr. Gabbott, who represents the in-terests of the farmers.

Mr. Doremus, the non-partisan mem-ber of the board, submitted a proposition which was agreeable to the city's representative but not so agreeable farmers, so it was turned down. He took the average flow of the creek in July and August for the 10 years pre vious to last year and ascertained the percentage of loss from July to August be 46 per cent. He then deducted per cent from the flow this July, which was 8,800,000 gallons per day, and the farmers would according to the contract, be etitled to $2½ per cent of that balance which would be 3,920,000 gallone per day. The proposition was not acceptable to Mr. Gabbott who argued that the flow in some of the years was so irregular that it would not be a safe basis of compensation.

Mr. Gabbott came back with a pro-position that was acceptable to Mr. Fisher and was entered upon the min-utes of the meeting as the basis of exchange. It provides that the measure-ment made by Mr. Doremus on August ment made by Mr. Doremus on August 14, before the water was turned onto the city's land by the city officials, be made the basis of exchange. The stream on that date measured 7,685,280 gallons of which the farmers are entitled to 82½ per cent or 6,345,356 gallons per day. For the purpose of reaching a settlement and to be effective for this year only, Mr. Gabbott offered to concede 2,000,000 gallons to the city. cede 2,000,000 gallons to the city, which would leave 4,340,356 gallons to be furnished by the city. Whenever the city can furnish that amount from the canal it can retake all of Parley's creek water, and it has the privilege of furnishing any amount possible from the canal and making up the balance from Parley's creek.

It is now up to the city to increase the flow of the canal so that it will be able to pay the farmers the amount due under the agreement. In order to meet the terms it will be necessary for the city to purchase from the canal companies part of the water now being pumped from Utah lake. The flow at the head of the city's canal yesterday was 7,776,090 gallons, but a great percentage of that is lost by evaporation and seepage before it reaches the measuring welr where it is distributed to the farmers. The pumps are said to be working in first-class condition and are pumping about 200 cubic feet per second into the Jordan river, but none of that is allowed to flow into the city's canal and will not be allowed to do so until the city comes to some agree-ment with the canal companies for the purchase of the same.

Land and Water Commissioner Fisher will at once make a measurement of the canal and if possible to meet the terms of the areement he will call the board together and demonstrate fact, and the city will then take possesagainst the city will then be dissolved and the water famine will be over. The agreement reached by the commissioners last night puts an end to the attempt to have the city officials cited for contempt of court for interfering with the flow of Parley's creek.

DISTRIBUTION BASIS.

Upon the basis of 4,340,356 gallons per day, Land and Water Commissioner Fisher today appointed the dis-tribution of water from the canal at the different weirs as follows Forest Farm weir 475,363 gallons to cover 222 acres.

Twelfth South weir 2,676,588 gallons to cover 1,250 acres.

North of Twelfth South 1,188,405 galons to cover 555 acres. Total 4,340,856 gallons to cover 2,027

IN MEMORY OF TORGREEM LARSEN

Seldom does the silent monarch of the grave make so untimely a call upon ene of his subjects as was that to which young Torgreem Larson answered Sunday night. He was in the fuil splendor of early manhood only three days before, beautiful as Autinous or Gauymede, brimfull of life that sparkled in his laughing eyes, always mannerly, genial, kind and a general favorite among those who knew him.

Torgreem was born in Logan, June 24, 1883. His parents' name was Olsen. His mother, knowing that she was soon to die, asked her sister, Mrs. Hans Lar-cen, to adopt him. Three months later his mother passed and the little fellow was adopted by the Larsens, taking their name. Eight years later Mrs. Larsen died and Hans and Torgreem have lived together since. The sympathy between the two has always been beautiful and this writer knows this perhaps better than most others. We have lived side by side for 10 years and Torgreem and I have been on terms of intimacy. I have watched him passing from boy to man. He some-times came to me for advice, bringing me the confidences of his young life, and it is a satisfaction to recall now that I never went wrong in my words of counsel and encouragement.

For some time he was employed as messenger boy at the Western Union Telegraph office, but he told me of the temptations to which boys were exhigh sense of right by abandoning it. His last employment was with the committee in charge of the recent Elks convention, and it was while engaged there that the call came. Thursday he came home sick. Soldier, Officer and Gentleman," is What He Styled Himself-"So Fall the Brave "

After an effort of 12 years to secure a pension for valiant services rendered in behalf of his country in the civil war, Calvin B. Potter, " a soldier, officer and gentleman," crazed by the thought of being dependant upon the county for support and driven to despondency by ill health, early this morning ended his career by taking a dose of morphine, from the effects of which he died at about 2 o'clock. Three attempts had been made by the unfortunate man to secure a pension, but after 12 years' work, all hope was That Mr. Potter contemplated suicide was very clear from remarks made on Saturday to County Commissioner Anderson, and also from a letter written by him to the commissioner on same date, but which was not received until this morning. A little over a month ago Mr. Potter came to the county commissioners for assistance. Since that time he has been provided with meals from a restaurant up town. The commissioners at once corresponded with the pension bureau with a view to helping him secure his pension. A reply was received and was shown to Mr. Potter on Saturday. It was very unsatisfactory and the old soldier said to Commissioner Anderson: "I plainly see that there is only one course for me to pursue now."

After some talk he agreed to come in today and see the commissioners and make out a new application for pension. After leaving, however, he wrote Mr. Anderson a long letter thanking him and the other commissioners for their kindness and stating in conclusion in substance that between the two doors now left open to him, namely, death and the poor house, an honorable soldier would hesitate.

In his room was found a ote that read as follows: "If should be called away, I wonder if note anyone would be so kind as to express this package to its address. It contains nothing of special value to anyone else. Open it if you choose and verify this: then I wish it could be sent as addressed. I wish I could coin my blood into money to recompense those who befriended me."

The package contains some mementos and was addressed to Rupert P. Pot-ter, St. Joseph, Michigan, who is supposed to be a brother of the dead man, Mr. Potter was 65 years of age and had been married, but it is not known whether or not his wife is living. It s said that he has a son attending Yale university. He has been living in the house of Mrs. Agnes Peterson for the last three years and had been pay-ing no rental for the same, having been in poor circumstances during that per-iod. He also had a law office in the D. F. Walker building. His army record is as follows:

New Inter-Urban Line Wants to Get Into the Heart of Salt Lake City.

The Utah & Salt Lake Valley electric line will this evening petition the city council for a franchise to operate cars from the present terminus on Tenth South to Twelfth South, where connection will be made with rightof-way which was this afternoon granted by the county commissioners along the east side of the Red. wood road to Taylorsville, thence half a mile east on the Taylorsville road to shoot off in a southeasterly direction across the river at the Highland Boy smelter and down to Bingham Junc-

Providing this franchise is granted the Utah & Salt Lake Valley, which is the Telluride Power plant project, will make an effort to come up Main street. In any case, it is said that the road will come as near the center of town as West Temple and Second South streets. With this object in view the company has been acquiring property on First West, near the present terminus of the line, with the object in view of coming through the block and along Pierpont avenue just below the Oregon Short Line building on West Temple street.

The company is willing to put up a reasonable bond to show that they mean business and also promises to operate a decidedly effective interurban service between Salt Lake and Blngham Junction.

FRANCHISE GRANTED.

The county commissioners today de cided to grant the Salt Lake & Utah Valley Railroad company a franchise for an electric railway from the south ern limits of the city, south on Red-wood road to Taylorsville, thence across the river to the Highland Eoy smelter, thence south to Bingham Junction. Some few changes in the franchise which were suggested at the meeting of the commissioners this morning will be made and it will be returned to them at 5 o'clock this afternoon to be finally approved.

The conditions of the franchise are practically the same as those in the franchise asked for by the Salt Lake Suburban Railway company. which is now under consideration by the commissioners. The limit of fares to be charged are, 5 cents to Granger, 10 cents to Taylorsville and 20 cents to Bingham Junction. The county requires the company to furnish a bond for $10,road will be built inside of one year n the Salt Lake & Suburban franchise the same bond was required but the company was only asked to build one-fifth of its road in a year. The Salt Lake & Utah Valley company agreed at once to furnish the required bond, but the other company objected to the bond and hence its franchise is tied up.

The commissioners also heard the obections of the Salt Lake & Suburban Railway company's attorney to furnishing a bond as required in the franchise Taylor, the attorney, thought that the proposition was unjust and un-businesslike and did not think that his company should be required to give the bond, as the mere existence of the company itself was sufficient evidence of good faith on its part. The matter was taken under consideration by the comnissioners and it is expected that, unless the company furnishes the bond as required, its petition for a franchise will be turned down.

OTHER RAILROAD BUSINESS. The Oregon Short Line was granted permission to build a track across the county road at Pallas.

The Rio Grande Western Railway company was notified by the commissioners to remove an old abutment which obstructs highway No. 79.
